8. Participation Process

A Participant must register (i.e., subscribe) to participate in the Event. A Participant may subscribe to participate in the Event via SMS and/or IVR (each as set forth below). Such subscription is free; however, there are fees (as set forth below) for answering Questions when participating in the Event. A Participant may subscribe to and participate in the Event via either of the following methods:

(a) SMS.

- Participant may subscribe to the Event by sending the keyword "WIN" (or any other applicable keyword chosen by Vodafone India and Velti) to the Short Code 559550 free of charge.
- Once registered in the Event, the Participant will receive a welcome SMS message from the Short Code 559551 containing certain Competition details and thereafter, mobile terminated ("MT") SMS messages each with a Question and two (2) possible answers (one answer is correct and the other wrong). Participant may participate in the Competition by answering such MT SMS Questions by sending an SMS message ("MO") with Participant's answer ("1" or "2") to the Short Code 559551 (charged at the tariff of INR3 (3 rupees) per MO SMS). If Participant responds with something other than "1" or "2", then such response will be considered invalid and Participant will be charged INR 3 (3 Rupees) nevertheless.
- If Participant answers a Question, Participant will receive a reply MT SMS message and the next Question. Participant will receive an additional Question after each Question Participants answers. There is no limit to the Questions Participant can answer (each answer shall be charged at the tariff of INR 3 [3 Rupees] per MO SMS).

(b) IVR. By using the IVR application on the Short Code 559551 as follows:

- The Participant may subscribe to the Event via the IVR system in two (2) ways: (i) by calling the IVR system via Short Code 559551 and/or (ii) by receiving a promotional call from the IVR system.
- When calling the IVR system via Short Code 559551 for the first time the Participant must confirm that the Participant is interested in participating in the Competition by pressing “0” after which the Participant will be registered for the Event. When receiving a promotional call from the IVR system for the first time, the Participant must complete a double opt-in process in which the Participant is asked to confirm that the Participant is interested in participating in the Event by pressing “0” and, after so confirming, Participant will be informed about important Event elements (including relevant charges) and then asked to confirm again the same by pressing “0” again after which the Participant will be registered for the Event. If the Participant presses something other than “0”, the Participant will be informed that the Participant may subscribe any time by calling 559551 again and the call will be dropped. As stated above, the Participant will confirm participation prior to being charged upon answering Questions.
- After the Participant registers for the Event via the IVR system, the Participant will receive a welcome message containing important Event details and a second message with a Question and two (2) possible answers (one answer is correct and the other wrong). The Participant can then answer the Question by pressing “1” or “2” (charged at INR 3 [3 Rupees] per answer input). If Participant presses something other than “1” or “2” and other than any proper menu button, then such response will be considered invalid (no points will be awarded) and Participant will be taken to the next Question; provided, however, if Participant responds with two (2) consecutive invalid answers, the call will be dropped.
- Once registered in the Event, the Participant (i) may resume participation in the Event by calling the IVR system via Short Code 559551 and (ii) will receive promotional calls from the IVR system inviting the Participant to resume participation in the Event. The Participant will receive a welcome message containing important Event details and a second message with a Question and two (2) possible answers (one answer is correct and the other wrong). The Participant can then answer the Question by pressing “1” or “2” (charged at INR 3 [3 Rupees] per answer input). If Participant presses something other than “1” or “2” and other than any proper menu button, then such response will be considered invalid (no points will be awarded) and Participant will be taken to the next Question; provided, however, if Participant responds with two (2) consecutive invalid answers, the call will be dropped. Participant will not be charged for invalid responses via IVR.
- Participant can press “8” to listen to a Question again without charge, however, Participants cannot hear the same Question a third time. If Participant presses “8” to listen to a Question for a third time, Participant will be taken to the next Question.
- The IVR charging process will be explained to the Participant only once, which shall be during the Participant’s initial interaction with the IVR system.
- Participants will be barred from participating in the Competition via IVR when roaming outside Participant’s home circle group.

Participants may cancel their subscription to the Event at any time by opting-out and such cancelation will take effect at the end of the day.

For each correct answer to the Questions, the Participant will receive points, which are aggregated each day during the Event. Wrong answers and invalid answers give zero (0) points. The points for each right answer to the Question will be added in the following modes:

- Basic Mode: In basic mode, the Participant will receive at least twenty (20) points for each correct answer.
- Bonus Phases: There will be bonus phases with different incentives where the Participant will receive more points than the Participant can receive in the basic mode. These bonus phases can last for different durations and will be promoted via SMS and/or IVR according to the Participant’s participation in the Competition. The Participant may receive promotional SMS teasers and IVR messages according to availability of technical capacity, stability and generally accepted resting hours of the day.

During IVR Bonus Phases, if Participant responds with an invalid answer, then the next Question served that day will carry at least the same point value as the Question Participant responded with an invalid answer. The SMS point system may be different from the IVR point system even during the same day and/or Bonus Phase.

If a Participant participates in the Event via both SMS and IVR on a particular day, then the Participant's score will be cumulative and not exclusive for each of the methods of participation. For purpose of illustration only, if the Participant scores 120 points by participating in the Event via IVR before dropping the IVR call and then resumes participating in the Competition on that same day via SMS and answers a Question for 20 points, then the Participant's total score will be 140 points for such day.

Participants will be sent general SMS messages and / or OBD calls in reply to Participant's interactions containing information about the number of points scored by the Participant during the Event. Additionally, Participants may request their total score at any given point by sending a SMS message with keyword "SCORE" to the Short Code 559550 free of charge.

All fees stated in these T&C include applicable taxes. Participant is responsible for all applicable taxes
